Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

A Nevada County delegation of 32 citizens representative of the Mine Workers Protective league, business men, peace officers of city and county, including the sheriff, who acted as master of ceremonies, visited Governor Frank Merriam Tuesday and stated the case of Nevada County versus the CIO-communists. It was an interesting meeting in the Governor's assembly room with a great horse shoe table and a bank of seats along one end of the room. Large paintings of former governors adorned the room and there was also a full length life sized portrait of the martyred president, McKinley.

In the opinion of this writer the most telling and timely talk given in that spacious audience chamber was that of Olney Donnelly, president of the Mine Worker's Protective League. He gave a brief sketch of the organization which he heads. He told of the more than 1400 members, of its $50,000 treasury. He described the benefits its members receive —$10 per week for those injured in mine work, relief for those severely "up against it," care for widows and orphans, and when death comes to the members, payment of funeral expenses. The secretary of this great organization gets but $30 per month.

Donnelly related to the Governor the years of industrial peace which have marked the life of the league since it was formed almost twenty years ago. He told how wages have been increased, how hours had been reduced, and how working conditions had been gradually improved without strikes or lockouts in two decades. This, through conferences with mine managers and owners, sitting about a table.

As is related in the news columns, seven or eight other men from Grass Valley or Nevada City gave addresses to the Governor after being introduced by Sheriff Carl Tobiassen, who first gave the governor a short summary of the disturbance here. We had a hunch, while Donnelly was speaking that the Governor was getting the real "low down" on what caused all this trouble. Donnelly summed it up with the words: "We were fighting for our lives," meaning of course, the league organization.

For the Governor is old and wise. He knows undoubtedly the entire troubled history of the rise of the CIO, its surrender to the radical and communist elements of the country, and its frantic attempts to disrupt the industrial life of the nation. He has been through the Salinas and the Stockton affrays. Behind the scenes, he is no doubt, working for peace in Crockett. He has been importuned perhaps a hundred times during his administration, by factions in labor wars, or by the long suffering public, speaking through chambers of commerce, to bring in the troops and force a peace. He knows all about labor rackets. When Donnelly mentioned that $50,000 in the league treasury, a revealing light was shed on the troubles of Nevada County. To bore from within, is the most characteristic tactics of the CIO-communists everywhere. They attempted to "bore from within" the league, to seize that treasury. In Long Beach they almost had their hands on the fat treasury of a waterfront union, and would have gotten away with it save that a superior judge halted this larceny.

The Governor after hearing representatives of Nevada County could easily piece together the entire picture. As a matter of fact the only difference between Nevada County's labor disturbance and many another created by the CIO-communists, throughout the country is that in Nevada County, the entire community is solidly behind the league. Whereas in many another community the third party, the taxpayers and citizenry, in short the general public, have been pushed around, stepped on, bashed and battered by contending labor forces in this county were not playing the role of innocent and abused bystanders. Business and professional men have not been standing "behind" their miners. They have been with them, cheek by jowl.

The Governor, who has shown a thorough understanding of our conditions here, is appointing a commission of five men to investigate and report the facts, so that he may answer a nation-wide inquiry. It may be in due time, that some form of punishment will be visited on us. If it should come let us bear it manfully and take pride in the fact that Nevada County, the white spot on the national economic map, tasted the bitter fruit of the New Deal and spat it out.

FOREST SERVICE FUNDS FOR FLOOD REPAIRS

Forest Supervisor DeWitt Nelson at Nevada City has received a special allotment of flood rehabilitation money to repair the roads and small bridges within the Tahoe National Forest. The CCC Spike Camp which is just being established at Downieville to resume construction of the Downieville-Camptonville telephone line will be engaged upon this work, and an additional spike camp will probably be installed at Camptonville. The work will be done under the supervision of Staff Engineer W. P. Lee, and Foreman William Nichols, has been selected by him to take charge of the camp at Downieville Reconstruction of the larger bridges destroyed by the flood will, according to Nelson, be handled directly by the bridge department at the San Francisco office. Materials are now being received for rebuilding the second divide bridge near Downieville.

Robert Nye was elected to the city council by a write-in movement at the ballot boxes last Tuesday. Nye takes the seat formerly held by Karl Kopp. Nye had previously served two years as an appointee to the council, finishing the term of Mayor Seaman.

Consolidated Precinct B: Total vote, 116; Councilman Hall, 98; Nye, 39; Kopp, 43; Ghidotti, 20. Clerk, Calanan, 97. Treasurer: Mrs.. Emma Foley, 102.

LITTLE ATTENTION PAID SACRAMENTO VISITORS

Four or five carloads of CIO-communists returned Wednesday afternoon to Nevada City for their personal effects from their temporary camp ground on the state fair premises in Sacramento. They were escorted from Bear river bridge by State traffic patrolmen and, when they had obtained whatever they came back for, they were escorted back to the mridge. Though several of them wore their yellow buttons, no one paid more than casual attention to them.

Al Garesio was among those who returned. He went to Indian Flat and secured a large trunk of personal belongings.

Reid Robinson, president of the CIO affiliate, who once promised the CIO-communists here that with unionization, they would receive five thousand a year in wages, on Wednesday wired from Washington that the Labor Board proposed to investigate the labor disturbances here. This despite the fact that the board had made a ruling it would take up no more mining cases in California until the Idaho Maryland case had been decided in the courts.

MINE WORKERS LEAGUE NOW HAS 1500 MEMBERS

From Harry Goudge, secretary of the Mine Workers Protective league, it was yesterday learned that this organization now has upwards of 1,500, paid up members. During its nearly twenty years of existence it has paid out $150,000 in various benefits to members. It now has over $50,000 in its treasury. Its expenses consists of $18 per month rent, two secretaries employed at $30 a month each, and a treasurer at $20 per month. Benefits consist of burial expenses for members, $10 per week compensation for those injured while at work in the mine, and assistance to widows and orphans.

CHAMBER ASKS THAT COMMITTEE OBTAIN TRUTH

On behalf of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, Hal Draper on Tuesday handed to Governor Merriam and the battery of newspaper reporters attendant at the meeting of the Nevada County representatives with the Governor, the following resolution:

WHEREAS, it has come to the attention of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce that a large group of men have congregated at the State Capitol Grounds and have represented to the Governor and the people that they are residents of Nevada County and have been unlawfully ejected therefrom because of their union labor affiliations, and

WHEREAS it is the judgment of this Chamber of Commerce that such reports are wholly false and are being circulated for the purpose of misleading the people and of preventing the orderly enforcement of the laws and the protection of the rights of the Nevada County workers, and

WHEREAS it is the judgment of this Chamber of Commerce that the circulation of such false and malicious statements is disturbing to the public peace of Nevada County, and should be checked by the publication of the true facts;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Honorable Frank F. Merriam, as Governor of the State of California, be requested to appoint an investigating committee for the purpose of ascertaining the identity of the persons claiming to have been expelled from the County of Nevada and that such committee be instructed to determine the names of all such persons, their former places of residence in Nevada County and such further facts as the committee may deem necessary to determine the merits of the charge made. That such committee be further instructed to verify the information so received by making an independent investigation of the data and that a report of the findings be made to the Governor and made available to the peace officers of Nevada County for their information and guidance.

DON'T SLAP A LION

(Editorial in The Sacramento Union, April 13th.)

The CIO today is reaping the harvest it sowed a year ago when it roused public opinion against it with the sitdown strike. That public opinion has made Nevada City and Grass Valley unsafe for CIO members; and, as a result, CIO workers at the Lava Cap Mine have joined their already jobless brethren for the simple reason they're afraid to report for work.

Today the CIO is sitting in camps on the fair grounds, after a day of camping in the shadow of the capitol. That is the most Governor Merriam feels he can do for them now—provide them shelter and food, the while his investigators sift actual conditions in Nevada County.

The CIO has cried loudly that members are entitled to protection by the law; but the CIO was no respecter of the law when it seized possession of property in the sitdown wave. The CIO has brought its troubles on its own head, for those men ,who, they say, make it unsafe for them to return to their homes and jobs in Nevada County are also American workers, workers who claim they are satisfied with the present affiliation and want none of CIO agitation.

The CIO's reputation is that of demanding more milk than the cow will give under even the best of feeding. Those Nevada County people are of solid Cornwall stock. They are obviously in the vast majority in this dispute. If they are satisfied with their lot, can they be denied the right to preservation of that lot? That is only the principle of majority rule.

True, the majority has no right to abuse a minority; but when the reputation of that minority is such as to threaten the very structure upon which the majority subsists, the elemental law of survival has a primitive habit of flensing its claws. The CIO lost a similar struggle in Ohio and Pennsylvania last spring in the fight with Republic Steel. All its yelling and its marching availed it nothing then in the fact of an aroused citizenry. The CIO is face to face with a showdown in its fight on the Pacific Coast.

HOLY WEEK AND EASTER AT THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

At the same hour on Good Friday the Gospel of St. John will be read. Then will follow the veneration of the Cross and Mass of the Presanctified. ROTARY HEARS TALK ON C C C

The Rotary club at luncheon today elected a new board of directors to take office July 1. The new directors will be C. Otis Brown, Hal Draper, Emmett Gallagher, Andy M. Holmes, Helm Kjorlie and DeWitt Nelson. The directors will meet Saturday afternoon (tomorrow) and elect a president who will take office with them on July 1st.

Following a motion offered from the floor, the president, H. M. Leete, named a committee consisting of Hal Draper and Frank Finnegan to draft a resolution dealing with recent disturbances experienced in Nevada county.

R. L. P. Bigelow was chairman of the day. He introduced Lieutenant A. J. Maes, of the United States navy officer in charge of the CCC camp in Grass Valley. Lieutenant Maes, stated that during the recent open house celebrating the fifth anniversary of the CCC camps in the United States, there were over 500 visitors there. The lieutenant declared, that contrary to the opinion held by many persons, the CCC is not a military organization, though it is in charge of the army department. The only thing resembling military rules and traditions is that of standing at attention when the colors are lowered at sun down.

"The CCC has been a great force in conservation throughout the nation, both in human and in natural resources," the officer said. "The general policies of the CCC are determined in Washington and so far those policies have been highly beneficial to the entire country. There is a military officer at each camp, a junior officer, a doctor and facilities for caring for the sick. The doctor sees to it that the sanitation of the camp is properly maintained. There is also a civilian educational director.

"The boys are offered such courses as they choose to study. They may continue with their high school studies or they may enter courses in craftsmanship or mechanics. The boys may enter any time between the ages of 17 and 24, but at 24 years old they are no longer eligible to enroll. Their pay is $30 per month, which with board, clothes and lodging provided is equivalent to approximately $90 per month in life outside the camps. Some college students have enrolled in order to save money to continue theier courses in college. The enrollee must contribute at least $22 to the support of dependents each month, if he has any. If he has none, then he must deposit that amount with the quartermaster in San Francisco. The enrollees receives this money when his time expires and some bos have a very nice little nest egg to start with when they are placed on their own. The boys enroll for a term of six months, but in event they obtain employment they are given an honorable discharge.

The Panacea Of Spending

(From the New York Times)

Some fallacies die hard, and among the toughest is the belief that increased governmental spending necessarily means "increased purchasing power" in the country and therefore more "prosperity."

Experience, however, gives no reason for supposing that an unbalanced budget or a heavy government spending program is either a necessity or an advantage in bad times. In 1921 we not only balanced our budget but actually retired the huge sum of more than a billion dollars in debt, yet we had a prompt and sharp recovery.

Yet the apostles of government spending view the question in a crudely mechanical way. They persist in beliiving that the money spent by government (at least that amount not offset by tax collections) must mean a net addition to the total spending (purchasing power) in the nation. But they forget that private incomes are not spent automatically, that new enterprises are not started automatically, that men are not employed automatically. Before these things are done, men must have confidence; and if the federal budget should become more hopelessly out of balance than ever, the effect would probably be only to undermine confidence still further.

Government spending, instead of "bridging the gap" would in that case only widen the gap. Confidence can be restored only by reforming the tax laws and by other changes in legislation and in administration attitude as will indicate a genuinely sympathetic concern with the difficult problems of those upon whom the county must depend to employ labor and expand enterprise.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder about communists—
They hate this peaceful land,
Against her institutions too,
They take a rabid stand;
But when worsted or put down,
In arguments or fights,
They drag the Constitution out
And quote the Bill of Rights.

I wonder at the strange vagaries and inconsistencies of the communist; he lives in a democratic country which he abhors and under democratic institutions, for which he entertains no respect, while all the time, scores of mighty ocean liners are waiting to transport him to regions where his own type of ideology is in flower. He seeps into peaceful communities where his presence is undesirable and complains most bitterly when invited to "move along;" he reviles the flag, and despises every law enforcement agency and agent, but when something untoward comes his way, he forgets his bold self sufficiency, unfurls the Stars and Stripes above his unworthy head, and shouts, "Police! Police!" with all the strength of his brazen lungs.

Consistency, thou are a gem of purest ray—unseen.

I wonder if out of the filibustering and sillyblustering which has marked the present session of Congress, something may emerge which will be really useful in settling industrial unrest and stemming the tide of recession.

Tell us not in gleeful numbers
Life is but a rosy dream,
Twixt depression and recession
Things are really what they seem.

I wonder what our rich, snobbish and ambitious social climbers will do now, poor things. For many years it has been quite the thing for those who could pull the strings and pay the price, to don fluff, feathers, long trains, and after learning how to bend humble joints at just the specified angle, to enjoy one crowded moment of glorious life in the presence of British royalty. Now, our new ambassador to the Court of St. James, says that the absurdly undemocratic custom must cease.

Uncle Silas says: "Maybe when Colonel Lindbergh finally perfects his invention for making hearts beat regularly and indefinitely, he'll construct some sort of kickshaw which will induce the human brain to click at all times steadily and intelligently.

Cole Nawman of this city has taken a lease on placer claims near Tenabo in the Bullion district in Nevada state. They have been worked with profit by a former operator. Mr. Nawman has been in the employ of Col. E. Perry, in this district for about two years, at the Ragon mine and also placer ground near You Bet which closed down within the last few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Eastman came down from Plumas county early this week to stay in their home for a time. Mr. Eastman stated he came down to shake the snow out of his boots. It has been quite deep at his mine property but is now melting rapidly. Mr. and Mrs. Eastman will leave shortly for British Columbia where he is interested in mining property.

APRIL SHOWERS

The Week

By H. M. L. Jr.

Larger and larger percentages of lads and lassies trip off to college upon graduating from high school. The happy increase is not caused by a sudden upturn in the natural intelligence of high school graduates, nor is it brought about by a more acute understanding of the beauties and joys of knowledge. The increase in the enrollment of educational institutions is caused by a dearth of jobs for young people..

Ordinarily a small group, about a fifth of the average graduating high school class would be qualified to enter a college or university; that is qualified by grades, by intellect and by a desire to learn. About half again as many as usually enter higher institutions, are doing so now. Most of this depression surplus of hopefuls have scarcely any qualification for the pursuit of learning save plenty of time. Off they set to college with a new suit or a new dress and boundless bright and weak resolves to make something more of themselves than father, who is digging down in his jeans for the monthly allowances. The depression surplus of aspirants to higher learning swells the brimming ranks of the junior colleges, for they rarely ha credits for entrance to the universities.

While Johnny is at junior college tiredly absorbing Spanish and history, and economics and enjoying athletic contests and junior collegiate social life no end, the industrial schools cry out for pupils and the working world bemoans the lack of skilled artisans. There is in America in good times, and bad a steadily growing need for welders and plumbers and master mechanics who are acquainted with the technical and theoretical sides of their trades as well as the practical. This knowledge is not acquired best by handing tools to the master worker at the trade, but in the industrial schools. It is a rare industrial school graduate who completes his course competently and does not easily find a job. The depression surplus of unpromising academic students at the junior colleges go there with the idea, carefully packed beneath their bright hopes, that after all, this college is merely an interlude between high school and the job.

When the depression crop of scholastics complete their courses at junior colleges and, sated with learning, turn again to look for bread and butter, they find that mediocre white collar workers with superficial smattering of formal education are a drug on the market. The rare jobs they get are likely to be part time and sixty five dollars a month is not an extraordinarily low starter for the would-be executive in business. In the meantime, the boy who went to an industrial school for a year or two is drawing his time every two weeks at seven or eight bucks a day, which is very near the low starting point for trained artisans.

The boy who went to industrial school probably has a little harder time getting the dirt off his hands after the day's work than the white collar lad, but then he has the little cottage he is buying, and perhaps payments on a new lizzie for the family, and a dress or two for the wife. Maybe he envies the white collar boy who sucked in all that classical education at junior college and now lives at a bum boarding house and has to turn his white collar and cuffs every now and then to get the most wear out of them. Maybe he envies the lad who takes so much guff and so little jack from the boss, but who wears a white collar to work every day. The trained artisan, through the urgent need for him, and through the union, is practically his own boss. Chances are he realizes that he is pretty well off and that the path to fulfillment of that great American dream "every man a king" does not always lead through the cloisters of scholasticism.

HIGHWAY PATROL GIVES ANSWERS TO "WHYS"

Chief E. Raymond Cato answers many traffic suestions, the correct answer to which ought to be a real aid to drivers.

Q—How fast is a truck and semi-trailer permitted to travel?

A—If the vehicles and load weigh from twenty to twenty five thousand pounds, such combination of vehicles may travel 35 miles per hour; over twenty five thousand pounds, 30 miles per hour.

Q—What is the maximum speed allowed for an automobile and trailer coach?

A—The maximum speed shall not at any time exceed 45 miles per hour subject to other and more restrictive limits set forth in the vehicle code.

Q—Where is it permitted to turn a vehicle so as to proceed in the opposite direction?

A—In a business district only at street intersections, where permitted and in a residence district between sereet intersections when no other vehicle is approaching from either direction within 200 feet.

Q—Can a turn be made on a curve or crest of grade?

A—Section 542 of the Vehicle Code states "No such turn can be made upon any curve, approach to or near the crest of a grade, when such vehicle cannot be seen by the driver of any other vehicle approaching from either direction within 200 feet."

Q—There seems to be considerable misunderstanding of giving signals that I am sure it will be appreciated if you would clarify this matter.

A—Left turn—hand and arm extended horizontally beyond the side of the vehicle; right turn—hand and arm extended upward beyond the side of the vehicle; stop or sudden decrease of speed signal—hand and arm extended downward beyond the side of the vehicle.

WORK ON MICHIGAN BLUFF TRAIL RESUMED

Construction of the Baker Ranch Mosquito Ridge truck trail, better known as the Michigan Bluff truck trail, will be resumed in the next few days, according to Forest Supervisor DeWitt Nelson at Nevada City. The chief obstacle in the way of reopening the spike camp near Michigan Bluff is at present the existence of numerous springs on the flat where the buildings are located, making transportation to and from them almost impossible. Assistant Staff Engineer G. E. Mitchell and Truck Trail Locator A. G. Schofield are now engaged in completion of preliminary survey of the route. Decision was reached, according to Nelson, to double track this road on account of the vast virgin stands of sugar and ponderosa pine that will be made accessible to market just as soon as this truck trail is completed. A high grade truck trail is planned that will stand up under the heavy traffic that is erpected to develop.

The amazing speed of the new electric ranges drove away my old set notion that electric cooking was slow. Glowing heat flows forth the instant I flip the switch.

Cost is very little even though I cook for a family of five big eaters. And I have found many ways to save both time and electricity by using the automatic controls on the new electric range.

No range is so easy to keep clean as my new electric. Closed units and smooth porcelain, inside and out, are as easy to clean as a china dish.

Add an Electric Water Heater and save money. I am delighted with hot water that is now on tap day and night. My kitchen electricity now costs 1¢ per kilowatt hour, which makes electric water heating cost very, very little.

BOATS BUILDING FOR FISHERMEN

Fishing is the main topic among Nevada City sportsmen as the opening date, May first, draws near. Several new boats have been built the latest one to receive a nice coat of paint is the property of Erick Childs, Cardinal Meat Market proprietor and he has christened it Seabiscuit, after the famous racing horse.

Frank Ghidotti, of the Cardinal store, has gone in partnership with "Whispering" Dick Lane and George Ebaugh in construction of a boat which is being built at Lane's Garage. Ghidotti stated Dr. W. W. Reed will be called in to break the bottle of champagne when the boat is christened and the group are racking their brains to pick a lucky name.

Bob Fleming of Sacramento and former Nevada City boy, who was in town Wednesday suggests the boat be named Sea Weed after the once famous Nevada County baseball team that always was a winner.

Rumors are beauty rest mattresses may be built into these boats and Childs may even take cooking utensils along, to await his chance to get the limit.

HELEN JEPSON TO SING MAY 3 IN SACRAMENTO

Northern Californians who have thrilled to the voice of Helen Jepson over the radio, at the opera, and at the motion pictures, will have an opportunity to hear her in concert May 3 when she presents the final concert of the Sacramento Music series in Memorial auditorium.

Born in Titusville, Pa., Miss Jepson spent her early childhood in Akron, Ohio. She was conscious of her voice, longed to cultivate it, but her parents' means were slender.

After graduating from high school she worked as a clerk in the department store, and later obtained a job selling records for a music shop. The inspiration of the famous singers whose recordings she played, prompted her to join a church quartet choir, where she earned $10 weekly to save toward her vocal education. Saving carefully for the next few years, she started off for the Chautauqua at Jamestown, New York. The money she earned from the Chautaqua was used for lessons in vocal training from Horatio Connell of the Curtis Institute.

Connell advised that Miss Jepson seek an audition for a free scholarship at the institution in which he taught. The girl did, came off splendidly, and for five years, received free scholarships as honor student there.

On graduating from the Curtis Institute with honors, young Helen received an engagement with the Philadelphia Civic Opera, making her debut in Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro," and continued with that company until she made a second debut with Philadelphia Grand Opera company in her first prima donna role, Nedda in "Pagliacci."

With the coming of the depression, chances were shut out for artists, veterans as youthful ones. After vainly seeking engagements in New York, Miss Jepson sprang to national attention on the radio; later had audition with Gatti-Casazza, then manager of the Motropolitan Opera, who gave her a contract at that noted institution.

After a debue made opposite Lawrence Tibbett, Helen Jepson embarked on a successful season at the Metropolitan. She has also appeared with the Chicago Grand Opera company during the last two years.

The blonde singer's Sacramento engagement in Sacramento is one of a nation wide tour. Reservations are being made at Ye Music Shoppe.

Miss Helen Arbogast, student at College of Pacific, Stockton and Jackson Englebright, who is attending Junior College in Sacramento, are spending their Easter vacations in Nevada City with relatives.

THIS AND THAT

By ROY GRIFFITH DEETER

Things we wish people would not do: We wish Gracie Allen and Marion Talley would not sing. That Eddie Peabody would not play the violin, that they would take the Manhattan Merry-go-round program off the air, that anyone would refrain from filing their nails when we are within hearing distance. That Fred Allen would stop punning —and then on the other hand we wish that radio sponsors would give us more of Freddie Brophy's (or however he spells his name) less known compositions, which are really beautiful, and we also wish the opera season would go on the year round. And that One Man's Family were broadcast more than twice a week. Oh well, if we got all our wishes this would be a dull world.

This week's words of wisdom: "You cannot stage a come-back unless you have been somewhere."

How smart are you? Answers to last week's questions. A wapiti is an animal, a north American deer. The Island of Rum, is in Scotland in the Hebrides.

Note on houses: We wonder if there is another town in these United States, the size of Nevada City that can boast such an enormous variety of beautiful homes and charming gardens? Every thing from real old houses with an architecture of a bygone era and all the dignity and character of their age, to now and very modern houses that are a housewife dream of convenience and beauty. It would be hard to single out one outstanding example for there are so many, and each is a delight in itself. There are houses that have been "done over" by clever and artistic people with results that would not seem impossible and have to be seen to be believed, there are houses with floor plans so intriguing that the visitor is completely fascinated. Chiefly, we believe are the bathrooms simply super-super. We have seen some bathrooms recently so delightful and colorful that we can think of no better way of spending a grand day than just remaining in the bath tub and admiring.

Kitchens too are no longer drab work rooms but have all the color and originality of a combination, playroom, sunroom, and feastroom! And the gardens! Oh the gardens—chiefly informal, but so inviting, so enticing, we'll admit that we are not too easily swayed, but with some of the houses in thsi village-on-seven-hills of ours it is practically impossible to remain in either the indors or outdoors for the simple reason it is all so charming one craves an umpttenth dimension so that one could be everywhere at once.

We are of the opinion that Nevada City would be paradise to the authors and photographers of such magazines as "House and Garden" etc. now there's a thought.

Note of complacence: Now that spring seems to have made up her mind to do right by us and flowers and trees and things are really making strides toward summer raiment, we have noticed every one seems so cheerful and busy and energetic, we believe even A. Merriam Conners paper bag rustlers are behaving themselves, for we went to the show the other night (chiefly we admit for the gorgeous moonlight ride) and behold—nary a P. B. R. Yes, A. M. C. they worry us too. We might add that at said show we laughed at W. C. Fields, and it happened that we sat next to a gent who evidently believed that scotch and sodas are a good fortification against mediocre shows, the illusion was so perfect that betwixt W. C. and the breath of the gent-on-the-right, we pretty near got thirsty ourselves.

Cheerio, everybody.

A truck load of mine equipment weighing about eight tons passed through Nevada City from Marysville yesterday enroute to the state of Nevada. In the consignment were electrical welding equipment, cylinder and sheet iron, besides other pieces of machinery.

CLEARING SLIDE FROM TAHOE UKIAH

A shovel, several trucks and nine men besides state highway equipment are this week removing a slide about a mile north of the Nevada City limits on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway. Other slides along the route will also be removed as work progresses. The equpiment has just been brought in from the Downieville highway where it has been repairing roads and removing slides caused by the wet winter.

Superintendent Fred Garrison hopes to get a snow-go on the Yuba Pass above Sierra City soon. There remains several feet of hard packed snow over the summit.

Placing new double line traffic stripes, orange, black and white, has just started in the Yuba City-Marysville area. These new stripes will be painted throughout his area where visibility is poor on curves and the grades.

Ralph Watters, who is attending University of California, is spending his Easter vacation in this section with relatives.

JIMMIE GRIER WITH MOVIELAND BAND COMING

local dance enthusiasts will have an opportunity to "swing it" to the popular dance orchestra which has played for more movie stars, producers and directors than any other "name" band in the country.

Jimmie Grier, known as the "Musical Host of the Coast" and his popular Movieland Band set an all-time record of four full years, or 208 consecutive weeks, at the famous "Biltmore Bowl" of the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles where the leading social affairs of the Motion Piceure Capital are held.

Owing to the insistent demand for his personal appearances throughout the country, Jimmie leaves this brilliant record behind him in order to take his group of talented musicians to the open road for a tour of the country's leading dance spots.

FOREST SERVICE TO ERECT NEW BRIDGE

Construction work will be started within a few days on the Second Divide stel bridge several miles from Downieville, according to DeWitt Nelson, Forest Supervisor at Nevada City. F. W. Thunberg, bridge engineer from the regional office of the Forest Service at San Fracisco, has just gone over the project with J. J. Youngberg, who will be senior foreman in charge of construction on the project. Nelson expects to detail about ten CCC enrollees from the Downieville Stub Camp to assist on the project, which is expected to take about one month or six weeks for completion.

The old wooden bridge across the South Fork of the Yuba river at Big Bend ranger station near Cisco will be replaced by a modern steel structure just as soon as weather conditions permit working there. Nelson hopes to have the project completed before opening of the camping season since the bridge provides means af access to the very intensively used Big Bend camp ground.

GOVERNOR WILL NAME BODY TO FIND THE FACTS

Governor Frank Merriam after receiving the delegation of 35 men from Nevada County, miners, business men and professional men on Tuesday morning said that he had already taken steps to appoint a mediation committee to ascertain the facts, both before and during the late disturbance. The governor said that there had been a nation-wide inquiry for the facts and he wished to be in a position to answr. The Governor then asked "now what about the return of these people."

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen first made a statement of conditions as now existing in Nevada County, denied that there was any "break down" of law and order in the county at any time, and declared that he was able to handle any situation that might arise in the future. He touched briefly on the causes leading up to the revolt of citizens and miners against the CIO-communists who had been inviting trouble for several months. The sheriff in response to the governor's query, said that he anticipated no further trouble, if those who had left Nevada County returnen, observed the law and refrained from provoking peaceful citizens.

District Attorney Vernon Stoll said that the complaining faction had been given every opportunity to comply with the county's anti-picketing ordinance, and to live in Nevada county unmolested. Sheriff Tobiassen, he declared, had made every effort that could be reasonably be expected, to preserve the peace.

Ward Sheldon, attorney, and chairman of the fact finding committee of the Nevada Ctiy Chamber of Commerce, gave a concise and clear presentation of the trouble from its inception to the present day and minimize the charges and allegations of the CIO contingent as well as doubting the veracity of figures and stories given by the "striker" adherents to the press.

Mayor Ben Hall said there was little prospect of violence if the bona fide residents returned to their homes. "If the strong armers—and there are a hundred or two who have poured into the district—try to come back, that might make it difficult."

Mayor John R. Thomas of Grass Valley, Chief of Police Garfield Robson, Chief of Police Ben Jenkins of Grass Valley, all of whom assured the Governor that if the CIO exiles wish to return to Nevada County as peace observing, law abiding citizens they are in no danger of injury.

One of the most enlightening talks of the morning was presented by Ollie Donnelly, president of the Mine Workers Protective League. The president recounted the experiences and fortunes of the league from the start in 1919 to the present day. He recounted the accident benefits, care of distress, widows and orphans, burial of dead and other activities of the organization, which has dues of but $1.00 a month. In answer to a question, the leader declared the M. W. P. L. had a reserve of $50,000 This figure opened the eyes of a battery of newsmen attending the meeting as having some bearing on the CIO situation.

"We have been handling the situation in Nevada County satisfactorily for twenty years," said Donnely, "We do not deny the CIO has a right to attempt to organize but we think there is not room for two unions and we are fighting for our life."

He denied law and order has broken down in the county.

Donnelly, denied statements which he said represented his union as being company dominated. He asserted it was a union of the same legitimate status as the American Federation of Labor or CIO and that it has been recognized as the bargaining agency for miners of the area by the National Labor Relations Board.

The Mine Workers League, he said, has 1,400 to 1,800 members, is in favor of law enforcement and will stand 100 per cent behind the officials in their effort to enforce the law.

Gene Tucker, Murchie miner, also addressed the governor and asked that all he and his associates desired was the right to work peacefully and without duress. He contended that the picket line had harassed and jaded the miners for three months. Approximately 10 miners endeavored to prevent 200 from securing a living he added.

At various times the governor interposed with questions, and comment. At one time, he declared that he met and talked with the man who was reported slain in the fighting (Otto Kron) and learned from his lips that he had walked into the hospital and had walked out the next morning.

The governor also declared his investigation disclosed that less than 10 per cent of those in the camp near the California Fair Grounds had been in Nevada county for as much as a year and that only four or five families there were entitled to return to their homes by reason of prior residence.

WOMAN'S CIVIC CLUB COMMENDS PEACE OFFICERS

The Woman's Civic Club Monday evening adopted the following resolution regarding the recent labor troubles:

Whereas, We, the Women's Civic Club of Nevada City deeply deplore the publicity given to the recent labor situation in our District as being outrageously falsified by the Communists in our midst and which reflects unfavorably on the community, and

Whereas, Outside newspapers have used as a base for their sensational columns the falsifications of said Communists without investigating the real facts, and

Whereas, We as residents know that any violence exhibited by the loyal miners was justified and necessary and that our city and county officers were energetic in the preservation of law and order, and

Whereas, We as loyal women of a state and county that we delight to honor and with a desire to keep intact the democratic principles of and a patriotic adherence to the Constitution of the United States of America,

Be It Resolved, That in gratitude for their protection and aid we commend our city and county officers, assuring them of our willingness to assist in any possible way their future efforts, also

Resolved, That our thanks are due the Nevada City Nugget and The Morning Union for their truthful record of events, fearlessly and accurately given.

Further be it Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of our Club for future reference as a matter of pride in our citizens and that copies be sent to Governor Merriam, Mayor Benj. Hall, Sheriff Carl Tobiassen, Raymond Cato, chief of State Patrol, Attorney General Webb, and the Press.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By MARY MARTZ

The Girls League held a meeting Friday and discussed the problems that trouble every high school girl. The girls asked questions and Miss McKnight answered them with the help of Miss Petersen and Miss Rector. The girls have a question box in which they place their questions, unsigned so there will be no embarrassment. The girls have received a great deal of help from these meetings and the Girls League is at last realizing one of its ideals—To help the high school girl to find a higher ideal in life. The credit for this new work should be given to Miss McKnight, the Girls League advisor. The idea of the discussion meetings came from the Older Girls Conference.

The Home Hygiene Class and the First Aid Classes under the direction of Mrs. Hefelfinger finished their course last week when they took their final examinations. The girls will receive their certificates as soon as the papers are corrected and recorded. The girls learned many useful things and enjoyed the course as well. This is the second year the Home Hygiene course has been given. This course is becoming a cumpulsory course for all girls to take before graduation.

MRS. KJORLIE IS NEW PRESIDENT OF CIVIC CLUB

The Womens Civic Club Monday evening met at the home of Mrs. James Penrose and transacted important factors of business among which was the election of officers for the coming term, who will take their stations at the next meeting.

The following were elected: Mrs. H. E. Kjorlie, president; Mrs. Hal Draper, first vice president; Mrs. David Reeder, second vice president; Mrs. Everett Robinson, secretary; Mrs. A. M. Hoge, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Nye, parliamentarian.

At the next meeting of the club, Mrs. Jo Alyn Clark will be the main speaker, bringing for display many works of arts and crafts and the members will be given some privileges of invitation to those interested in the arts, details will be given later.

In appreciation of her year of service, Mrs. Penrose was presented with a gift on behalf of the members of the club by Mrs. H. M. Leete.

A great deal of interest was displayed as to the future activities of the club and judging from the enthusiasm, next year will be one of great profit to the community.

Miss Alice Graham went to Sacramento Sunday and remained until Wednesday visiting with friends.

HYDRAULIC PARLOR MAKES STATEMENT

April 12, 1938.
OFFICIAL STATEMENT OF HYDRAULIC PARLOR, No. 56, N. S. G. W.

If the "ends justify the means," the truth of it is exemplified by conditions in Nevada City right now. An invaded and harrowed community is again at peace and "pursuing the even tenor of its way."

The question now being asked is "would it quietly submit to a repetition of the aggression and abuse that it endured prior to the recent purge?" the answer is, quite naturally, "No!"

After one insult, such as the "Murchie Miners" had been subjected to beyond human endurance, the offender was escorted from Governor Merriam's office. It is not expected that he will be permitted to return to that office and resume his former attitude.

The Communist CIO agitators were escorted from Nevada County, and it is not at all likely that they can return and resume their abuse in Nevada City and Grass Valley.

Hydraulic Parlor fully endorses the determination of the citizens of these two communities to protect legitimate labor and to banish agitators and exploiters from their midst.

Hydraulic Parlor Native Sons of the Golden West also endorses the attitude taken in the situation by Governor Merriam, Attorney General Webb, Chief Cato of the California Highway Patrol and his officers, Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen of Nevada County and his deputies, and the peace officers of Nevada City and Grass Valley, the Board of Supervisors of Nevada County, and the City Councils and Chambers of Commerce of both Nevada City and Grass Valley, as well as various non-official organizations and committees.
